PANAMA, December 28.

The president of Bolivia, Gen. Augustin Morales, was killed on the night of the 27th of November in a personal conflict, which he provoked while under the influence of liquor. For some time previous he had been on bad terms with the Legislative Assembly of Bolivis, chiefly because it would not senction certain measures in which he had a personal net rest. Or versary of the overthrow of Meigarejo, Le had exceeded his usual librations, and in that state went to the halls of Congress to use his personal influence over the project about certain mines. Finding them in the most insulting language, but finally was induced to retire. Waile the members were discussing the behavior of the President, an officer and a few troopers made their appearance at the doors. All the members stood to their posts and were not to be intimidated. Morales, finding that Congress did not dissolve, became enraged at every one near him. He threatened to have the Chief Minister shot, and the Minister took refuge at the United States Legation. Putting the troops under arms, he ther proceeded to the Capitol and declared the Legislature at an end. On the 28th the President was seen o the streets laboring under great excitament. In the evening an anonymous letter was read to him, warning him that his aides-de-camp intended making him a prisoner. At this he became furious, and rushing out into the ante-chamber where his aides-de-camp were, insulted and struck them. His nephew, La Faye, beggad him to desist. The nephew then urew his revolver and fired upon the President several times, killing him. During all this time the people, remained quiet, and Congress immediately elected Don Adolfo Battissan President of Bo

PROGRESS OF THE PORT ROYAL RAIL-ROAD.—We learn from the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, that work on the Port Royal Railroad is progressing rapid-ly, with every indication that the line will be completed from Augusta to its tide-water terminus by the 20th of Feb ruary. Only about twenty-five miles of track remain to be laid, and this is being most of the superstructure of the bridge ever the Savannah River, at Sand Bar Ferry, has been completed, the adjustment of the draw being the chief work yet to be accomplished.

A SINKING FUND.-Governor Scott, Mr. Chamberlain and Senator Owens, the late Sinking Fund Commissioners, inform the Legislature that they cannot make a report of their official proceelings, because W. J. Whipper, the Secretary of the Commission, holds the records and will not give them up. This is not a sufficient explanation. The transactions of the commission, especially the sale of the railroad assets of the State, demand a thorough sifting. The pleathat "It wasn't me, sir?" will not do. Either Whipper must produce the papers or the ex com missioners must out with the plain truth -Charleston News.

GIN HOUSE BURNT .- We regret to learn that the gin-house of Mr. W. A. Clay, who resides about four miles above Calhoun's Mills, was consumed by fire on Tuesday night of the past week, together with cotton, fodder, grain, and cotton-seed, amounting in value to $500. The fire was discovered soon after dark, and in flames. It was clearly the work of an In the Ho incendiary. THE GREENWOOD & AUGUSTA RAIL-POAR.-We learn from Gen. P. H. Bradley, one of the most earnest and active friends of this enterprise, that the survey is being most vigorously prosecuted, and that the prospects are very encouraging. Aid is confidently expected from the Georgia Legislature, for the section of the route lying in that State, and this will enable the city of Augusta, to do more for the remainder of the road. The subscriptions already obtained guarantee the success of the enterprise .- Abbeville Press & Banner.

There was of course no choice, and had another ballot been held it is probable that General McGowan would have been elected. But the men who had been crying Republican so loudly were too shrewd to permit a second ballot to be held. A member arose in his seat and changed his vote from Whipper to Cooke. This was enough to turn the tide towards that distinguished gentleman, and in less time than it takes to describe it, there was a general turning over from Whip-per to Cooke, and from Murray to Cooke. In fact everything turned to Cooke, and from the yells and shouts and noises, one would have imagined that the Horn had been converted into a mass meeting of scullions and pot boys.

In all the dreadful melee that ensued, the President kept up a vigorous appli-cation of his gavel to his desk, and a glance at the face of that officer did convey to your correspondent's mind the impression that he would like extremely pushed with all possible energy and despatch.
